

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

RemedyLogic Is Pleased To Announce That Darren R. Lebl, MD, MBA
Has Become a Member of Our Board of Advisors

Dr. Darren R. Lebl is a Stanford and Harvard trained spinal surgeon who practices at the Hospital for Special Surgery (HSS) in New York City. Dr. Lebl is an Associate Professor in spinal surgery specializing in minimally invasive surgery, the cervical spine, motion preserving spine procedures, and microsurgery.

New York, NY, March 20, 2020, RemedyLogic has added Darren R. Lebl, MD, MBA to its Board of Advisors. Dr. Lebl brings with him a customized approach to each individual patient to help maximize quality of life and musculoskeletal health. He incorporates innovative procedures, newer and less invasive surgical techniques, and biologic healing agents into his practice.

Dr. Lebl has a busy clinical practice at the Hospital for Special Surgery, the nation's #1 ranked Hospital in Orthopedic Surgery for 10 straight years. HSS is a teaching hospital, which means their faculty instructs the next generation of musculoskeletal clinicians. Many of their physicians are also likely to be working on research projects and clinical trials with HSS scientists and other experts.

HSS Physicians are also faculty members of Weill Cornell Medical College. Residents there are in the top ranked orthopedic residency program in the US. Including 300+ full-time researchers developing cutting-edge biomechanics, genomic insights and treatments for autoimmune diseases.

Dr. Lebl graduated from The University of Chicago with a triple major in biochemistry & molecular biology, chemistry, and economics with honors in each. He then attended medical school on scholarship to Stanford, surgical residency at Harvard, and subspecialty surgical fellowship at the Hospital for Special Surgery. Dr. Lebl later obtained an MBA from Wharton and pursued additional advanced spine surgery training in cervical spine disorders, occipitocervical disorders, and spinal deformity surgery with international leaders in the USA, China, Japan, Spain, and Germany.

The team at RemedyLogic is pleased that Dr. Lebl will be deeply involved in helping guide product development. During a recent interview, Dr. Lebl made these comments, "I look forward to being an active member of RemedyLogic's Board of Advisors. My years of experience in spinal surgery and tenure at HSS has made me uniquely qualified to help advance their product development to unparalleled levels in the industry."
